ORDER

GÓMEZ, C.J.

The plaintiff in this matter, the United States of America (the "Government"), commenced this action for civil penalty on May 30, 2007, against Coastal Air Transport, Inc. ("Coastal"). The record reflects proof of service of the Government's complaint and summons on Coastal. Coastal has not filed an answer to the Government's complaint.

In April, 2008, the Government filed a request for entry of default on their complaint against Coastal, pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 55(a) ("Rule 55(a)").<sup>1</sup> In July, 2008, the Clerk of Court entered default against Coastal. The Government now moves for default judgment against Coastal pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 55(b)(2) ("Rule 55(b)(2)").

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 55(b)(2) allows courts to enter a default judgment against a properly served defendant who fails to file a timely responsive pleading. Anchorage Assoc. v. V.I. Bd. of Tax Rev., 922 F.2d 168, 177 n.9 (3d Cir. 1990). The entry of a default judgment is largely a matter of judicial discretion, although the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit has emphasized that such "discretion is not without limits, however, and we have repeatedly stated our preference that cases be disposed of on the merits whenever practicable." Hritz v. Woma Corp., 732 F.2d 1178, 1181 (3d Cir. 1984).

In considering a motion for default judgment, the factual allegations in the complaint are treated as conceded by the defendant, except those relating to the amount of damages.

When a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend, and that failure is shown by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk must enter the party's default.

Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a).

DIRECTV, Inc. v. Pepe, 431 F.3d 162, 165 (3d Cir. 2005); Comdyne I, Inc. v. Corbin, 908 F.2d 1142, 1149 (3d Cir. 1990). Indeed, "a party entitled to judgment by default is required to prove the amount of damages that should be awarded." Oberstar v. F.D.I.C., 987 F.2d 494, 505 (8th Cir. 1993). Instead of relying on the allegations in the complaint, the Court must conduct an inquiry to ascertain the amount of damages. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(b) ("The court may conduct hearings . . . when, to enter or effectuate judgment, it needs to . . . determine the amount of damages . . . ."); see also United States v. Di Mucci, 879 F.2d 1488, 1497 (7th Cir. 1989) (explaining that a default judgment may be entered without an evidentiary hearing on damages so long as the amount of damages is "capable of ascertainment from definite figures contained in the documentary evidence or in detailed affidavits"); Adolph Coors Co. v. Movement Against Racism and the Klan, 777 F.2d 1538, 1544 (11th Cir. 1985) ("Damages may be awarded [in a default judgment] only if the record adequately reflects the basis for award via a hearing or a demonstration by detailed affidavits establishing the necessary facts." (quotation omitted)).

In this case, the Government seeks $3,300 in damages, plus pre-judgment and post-judgment interest. The record on which the Government relies for such relief, however, is woefully inadequate. Indeed, the Government has not offered any evidence in support of its damage claim. Rather, it relies on the allegations in the complaint. That reliance is misplaced. Cf. Credit Lyonnais Securities (USA), Inc. v. Alcantara, 183 F.3d 151, 154 (2d Cir. 1999) ("At the time [default] judgment was entered, the court had before it only the allegations in the complaint and the affidavit of plaintiff's counsel, who did not purport to have personal knowledge of the facts, asserting an amount of damages sustained by plaintiff . . . . This was insufficient evidence upon which to enter the amount of the judgment.").

Accordingly, it is hereby

ORDERED that the motion for default judgment is DENIED without prejudice.
